

PART ONE

by Gabriele Iuvinale

Chapter I

Modern Chinese nationalism

1. The belated understanding of Chinese strategy pag. 15
2. Chinese nationalism pag. 19
3. Xi Jinping's neo-nationalism pag. 21
4. Socialism with Chinese characteristics pag. 24
5. A triumphant Xi on the centenary of the CCP pag. 27

CHAPTER II

From the Party-State to absolute power

1. The advent of Xi and the birth of the party-state pag. 30
2. The centralization of the decision-making process in internal politics pag. 31
3. The decision-making process in economic policy pag. 34
4. The decision-making process in foreign policy pag. 36
5. Few women in political leadership positions pag. 37

CHAPTER III

A "Sinocentric Community of Common Destiny"

1. A new international order pag. 39
2. A new Middle Kingdom on the world stage pag. 41
3. La sfida di Xi Jinping pag. 42
4. Global influences and ramifications pag. 47
5. Africa: the embryo of the new world order pag. 49
6. China in Latin America, the Pacific Islands, South and Central Asia, Europe and the Middle East pag. 60

7. Weapons of Revisionist Multidimensional Warfare pag. 70

Economic co-optation and coercion abroad pag. 70 Operations of influence pag. 71 The use of international organizations and assertive diplomacy pag. 71

Bilateral agreements and multilateral forums pag. 71

The People's Liberation Army (PLA) p. 72

The extension of sovereignty p. 72

Authoritarianism for the maintenance of internal stability pag. 72 The Covid-19 pandemic p. 73

Chapter: IV

Predatory Mercantilism

1. The global deception pag. 75

2. Government in the economy pag. 78

I. State-owned enterprises: the case of the SOE megamergers pag.

78 Control over private companies: the PCC committees pag. 79 III.

State investments in private enterprises pag. 81 IV. The "supercontrol rights" of state shareholders pag. 81

V. Benefits from State Investments pag. 83

3. The tactics of predatory economic strategy pag. 84

Chapter V

Co-optation and economic coercion

1. Exploiting asymmetry in global supply chains p. 108 2. Strengthening the transnational semiconductor industry pag. 112 3. Supply of rare earths: US strategic error pag. 120 4. Becoming the world's pharmacy pag. 123

5. Leadership in the production of high-capacity batteries pag. 130

6. Towards Chinese Global Technological Preeminence? p. 133 7. The invisible price of Chinese 5G pag. 135 I. Understanding the "geopolitical" risk of Chinese 5G pag. 135 II. Preventing the CCP From Infiltrating p. 137

III. The bans for Huawei p. 139

IV. Generating a technological addiction pag. 143

8. The collection of human genomic data pag. 144

9. Other "conditioning" tools pag. 148

CHAPTER VI

Xi Jinping's Magic Weapons

1. Beijing's global infiltration pag. 152
2. Operations of influence pag. 154
- A) The strategy of the United Front pag. 155
- I. The Rebirth of the United Front under Xi pag. 157
- II. The Organs of the United Front pag. 158
- III. Additional organizations involved in FU p. 161
- IV. The Confucius Institutes p. 162
- V. Influence on Overseas Chinese: the Diaspora pag. 164
- VI. Transnational repression p. 169
- VII. Other harmful "manipulation" pag. 170
- VIII. Censorship through state media and the "Great Firewall" p. 177
- IX Information diplomacy pag. 180
- B) The Three Wars pag. 185
- I. The war of public opinion pag. 185
- II. The psychological warfare p. 186
- III. The war of law p. 186
- C) The subjects of the operations of influence pag. 189

Chapter VII

The diplomatic weapon

1. Towards a reform of global governance pag. 193
2. Remodeling International Organizations from within pag. 194
3. Rewriting human rights norms pag. 198
4. Commercial diplomacy pag. 201
5. From the wolf warrior to pandemic and hostage diplomacy pag. 208

Chapter VIII

How to govern emerging technologies

1. International Standards and the Global Internet Domain p. 214
2. Governance of home IT security pag. 215
3. The role of regulatory standards pag. 217 4. The "China Standards" strategic planning bodies pag. 218 5. China in international standardization bodies pag. 218 6. The BIS as a lever of influence for standardization pag. 220

Chapter IX

A global military power

1. The great military reforms in the Xi era pag. 221
 - I. Centralizing Control in Xi's Hands pag. 221
 - II. Transfer of power to the Party pag. 223
 - III. The new national security system p. 223
2. National security according to Xi pag. 224 3.
Defense policy and military strategy pag. 226
4. Party-army relations pag. 227
5. The Internal Security Forces pag. 229 6.
Towards a modern, computerized and global army pag. 231 7. The PLA Strategic Support Force (SSF): psychological, cyber and electronic warfare pag. 234
 - I. SSF – State IT espionage pag. 235
 - II. SSF - psychological warfare pag. 237
 - III. SSF – cyber warfare pag. 237 IV. SSF
- the network and electronic warfare pag. 239 See
SSF – the Space Systems Department pag. 242
YOU. SSF - research and development pag. 242
VII. SSF - space capacity and counter space pag. 243
7. Achieve political goals with military coercion pag. 244 8. Economic "vehicles" to extend military strength abroad pag. 245 9. Military diplomacy abroad page 249

CHAPTER X

Territorial and maritime expansionism

1. Overcoming the continental dimension of the Armed Forces pag. 250
 2. Condemnation in the Philippines case. For Beijing: "nothing but a piece of paper" pag. 252
 3. Taiwan increasingly in the crosshairs pag. 255 4.
- Hong Kong: end of the rule of law and the liberal dream pag. 266 5. The escalation strategy on the Indian border pag. 271

SECOND PART

by Nicola Iuvinale

CHAPTER I

Economic development

Between economic policy and authoritarianism

1. Economic development. From the opening of Deng Xiaoping, to the origins of "prosperity comune" di Xi Jinping, pag 275
2. Can redistributive rhetoric become a reality? Page 283
3. "The Zhejiang Experiment." Pg . 285
4. Deciphering the "common prosperity" in terms of political power Pag. 286
5. The macroeconomic strategy of the "dual circulation" Page 290
6. 14th five-year economic plan 2021/2026 pag. 294
7. The directive for the construction of the single national market Page 297
8. GDP decreases from the third quarter of 2021. Why? Page 298
9. The "Chinese puzzles" and economic factors Page 303
10. Did "state capitalism" build China's economic miracle? Page 309

CHAPTER II

The New Silk Road "One Belt, One Road"

1. The "One belt, one road" project Page 312
2. The first and second phase of implementation of the Belt and Road Pag. 314 3. The third phase. The defense of foreign interests with military force pag. 320 4. 2019: Italy joins the "Belt and Road" pag. 322
5. Control over the most important European ports of NATO countries page 330
6. The Maritime Belt and Road , p. 332
7. The use of civilian maritime entities to support military operations pag. 335 8. Beijing's secret program for the control of developing countries pag. 341 9. The debt apocalypse and the Chinese "grana" pag. 345
10. How the West can counter the BRI pag. 348

CHAPTER III

China in the World Organization of Business

1. Preparations for and entry into the World Trade Organization pag. 354
2. China 20 years after joining the WTO pag. 356 3. The Commercial Practices of the Chinese State in the Domestic and Global Economy pag. 359

CHAPTER IV

The technological decoupling Implications in commercial relations

1. The US rethink. China-centered technonationalism p. 368 2. The autarchy of technology and supply chains. Decoupling is the effect, the cause is the global benefit pag. 372
3. The war of sanctions. The "new EU-China strategy" resolution: a final sentence pag 376 4. The "Golden Power". Regulate the distorting actions of the internal market. Ideas for the future p. 388 5. The new EU-US Trade and Technology Council p. 393

6. The European Union is still very dependent on China pag. 396
7. The delisting of Chinese listed companies from US stock exchanges. The problem of "Variable Interest Entities" pag. 398
8. Banking sector risks. Global implications p. 404
9. The implications of the corporate social credit system pag. 407
10. "China First". Decoupling and reshoring of key industries in the West pag. 408
11. Rewrite the rules of the new globalization. The role of the EU p. 411

CHAPTER V

Chinese digital authoritarianism. “An intelligent and integrated global ecosystem”

1. It cyber power pag. 414
2. Italy and attention to cyberspace. Russia and China want to rewrite the cyber world order pag. 418
3. The "digital, intelligent and integrated" global trading ecosystem page 420
4. Digitization and big data will be a "factor of production" pag. 422
5. Data Security Law Will Expand Beijing's Influence pg. 427
6. e-CNY and the global standard of "central bank digital currencies" pag. 429
7. The "smart cities". Impact on national security p. 437
8. Internet of Things (IoT). Impact on national security p. 443
9. Starlinks. The restlessness of the CCP pag. 445

CHAPTER VI

Human rights practices

1. In China "sovereign rights" suppress "human rights" and the "protection of human beings" page 448
2. The terror campaign in China. US report p. 454
3. Human rights in Hong Kong, Tibet and Macao pag. 464
4. How China is rewriting human rights standards pag. 467

CHAPTER VII

The SARS-COV-2 pandemic The cover-up of the Communist Party Chinese

1. The outbreak of the pandemic pag. 471
2. WHO orders a more in-depth investigation into the origins of covid-19 pag. 477 3.
"Zero Covid' has become Xi's nemesis" pag. 481 4. "The disaster is incomprehensible without the political dimension" pag. 483

CHAPTER VIII

The War of Aggression on Ukraine and Sino-Russian Authoritarian Ambition

1. We have entered a new historical era pag. 486
2. The demiurge of the new world order pag. 488
3. Xi: "the silent partner" in Putin's aggression against Ukraine page 490
4. Beijing's diplomatic response to Russia's aggression against Ukraine pag. 494 5.
Neutrality or Chinese realpolitik ? p. 496 6. The Sino-Russian "Liminal Warfare" p. 500
7. The demolition of the geopolitical pillars of Zbigniew Brzezinski pag. 505

Note there First Part page _____

Notes to Part Two page _____